Numb. 738. THE

So^th.-Carolina GAZETTE.

Containing the freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

From WEDNESDAY June 1st, to WEDNESDAY June 8th 1748.

From the LONDON GAZETTE.

Hague, March 5.

THE Chevalier de Vial, Captain of a Free Company in the Republick's Service, surpriz'd and took, a few Days ago, a French Detachment of 50 Men, posted at Little Willebroeck, on the other Side of the Nethe, between Antwerp and Mechlin, and sunk some Boats laden with Forage for the French Troops.

Hague, March 8. This Morning her Royal Highness the Princess of Orange was happily delivered of a Prince. Major General Haddich assembled a few Days ago a great Number of Waggons, and carried off about 550 Bomb-shells, and 600 twenty-four Pound Balls from the Glacis of Bergen-op-Zoom, without the Loss of a Man, tho' the Ramparts were all lighted, and the Garison under Arms in Expectation of a Surprise.

Hague, March 12. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland arrived here, in perfect Health, on Saturday Evening. The four Plenipotentiaries of the States left their High Mightinesses last Friday, and are now upon the Road for Aix-la-Chapelle.

Hague, March 15. This Day the Council of State presented a Petition to the States General for the Sum of 1,700,000 Florins for the Subsistance of the Russian Troops. The States of Holland resumed their Assembly Yesterday, according to their Adjournment. Her Royal Highness the Princess of Orange, and the young Prince continue in perfect Health. Count Chavannes left this Place Yesterday, in order to repair to Aix-la-Chapelle.

Whitehall, March 12. The following Extract of a Letter from the Prince of Wolfenbuttle to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, inclosing a Relation of the Attack of the grand French Convoy near Bergen op-Zoom, the 15th Instant, N. S. by the Allied Troops, was received Yesterday from his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland.

Extract of the Prince of Wolfenbuttle's Letter to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, dated at Breda, March 17.

SIR,

I Take the Liberty to inclose your Royal Highness herein the Relation of General Haddich's having attack'd the 15th, the Enemy's Convoy between Hogesteyden and Bergen-op-Zoom, of which his Excellency the Marshal will have given your Highness already a short Account.

Your Royal Highness will excuse my not having given you immediately an Account of this Event, but as I had not till now the Particulars, I chose to defer it till I could acquaint your Royal Highness, with all the Circumstances. I cannot sufficiently commend the good Dispositions, the Prudence, Bravery, and Activity of General Haddich, to whom alone, and to the Courage and Readiness of the Troops, the Success of this Enterprise is owing. All the Troops of each Nation behaved extremely well, according to the General's Account; and Major Lorenti, of the Regiment of Soubiron, who received three Wounds in the Action, particularly distinguish'd himself.

The Troops employed in this Expedition went through very great Fatigue, which, however they surmounted with great Alacrity, and not the least Appearance of Murmur. M. Groothusen, Captain in the Electoral Troops of his Britannick Majesty, is mortally wounded, and is Prisoner at Bergen-op-Zoom.

I impatiently wait for Orders what is to be done with the Prisoners, who are all here, as I wish very much to be soon rid of them The Enemy desired Leave to bury their Dead this Morning, which was granted them. The rest of the Convoy, with all the Escorte, which came from Antwerp, entered Bergen op-Zoom at Night, from whence they returned the next Day.

[The inclosed Relation, above-mentioned, exactly agrees with the Account inserted in this Paper of Wednesday last.]

Genoa, March 2.

ON the 22d of last Month there arrived here an arm'd Felucca, having a Number of French Officers on board, and some Dispatches for the Duke de Richlieu. The next Day that was followed with nineteen Vessels more, and 1200 Soldiers, besides Officers, who were landed the same Day, and ordered to the Quarters design'd them. The Day before Yesterday a French Vessel landed 350 Soldiers here, and Yesterday several Vessels which sail'd from Monaco the Day before landed 2000 French and Spaniards here. These last were pursued by three English Men of War, which were cruising in those Seas, but without Success.

There are actually within this City and Jurisdiction 25 French & 14 Spanish Battalions, together with 8000 regular Troops of the Republick, exclusive of the Independent Companies, the Militia, armed Peasants, &c.

Dresden, March 18. We are informed that fifteen Russian Regiments arrived the 9th in the Neighbourhood of Grodno, that they observe every where an exact Discipline, and pay ready Money for whatever they take. That by particular Order from the Court of Petersbourg they march upwards of six Leagues a Day, so that they are expected to arrive at Olmutz towards the End of April, or the Beginning of May.

Paris, March 18. A Company is forming here which proposes to offer to build 8 new Men of War annually during twelve Years successively, for the King's Use, two of which are to be seventy, two of sixty, and four of fifty Guns each. We are at present unacquainted upon what Terms this is to be done; but this we know, that the Company undertake to buy the Timber necessary for that Service, on Condition that the King will cause it to be transported, and provide the Cannon. We learn from Brest, that several Vessels are arrived there with Timber, to build Men of War in that Port also. The King has remitted 50,000 Livers to Calais, to ransom M. de la Loudreny, in Case the Court of Great Britain should reclaim him.

Aix la Chapelle, March 20. The Earl of Sandwich, his Britannick Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary, arrived here on the 17th in the Evening, under a good Escorte, composed of Austrian and Palatine Troops; he was followed soon after by the Count de la Chavannes, Minister Plenipotentiary from the King of Sardinia. The Imperial Minister Count de Caunitz, arrived on the 18th. The Count de Bentinck, and M. Haselaer, Plenipotentiaries of their High Mightinesses the States General, are likewise in this City; and the Count de St. Severin, and the Spanish Minister, are expected the Day after To-morrow. We have mighty Hopes that these Conferences will very soon make Way for a solid and lasting Peace, of which all Parties seem to stand in need, notwithstanding the Pains taken to hide it. It is said the Conferences will be opened the first of next Month, or at least in a few Days after; so that the Fate of the Negociations here will be speedily known.

Berlin, March 9. The King has granted to the Merchants and Sailors of Stetin divers Privileges, to put them in a Condition to extend their Commerce, and a great Number of Carpenters have been lately sent thither, in order to build Ships.

Berne, March 9. Letters from Novi advise, that nine Men were returned thither, who had entered among the Genoese Troops, in order to deliver themselves from the hard Captivity which they were kept in. They report, amongst other Things, that the Genoese, weary of the French Government, had formed a Design to deliver themselves by a Tragedy resembling that which they acted upon the Imperialists; but the Duke of Richlieu having been inform'd of this in Time, he immediately caused the Guards to be doubled, disarm'd the Inhabitants, sent a large Number of regular Troops of the Republick to Bisagno, and caused those of France which were in the Eastern Riviera to return to St. Pierre d'Arena, to be a Check upon the Mutineers.

Hague, March 16. Baron Theodore de Newhoff, after having stay'd some Days here incognito, is set out for London.

Steenbergen, March 15. A Detachment of Hussars brought hither the Day before Yesterday about one hundred Waggons and Carriages, laden with four hundred and fifty Bombs, and six hundred and six Cannon Balls, twenty four Pounders; and Yesterday they brought forty Carriages which they found upon the Meadow, between Wouw and Bergen-op-Zoom. We can give no distinct Account of this Affair, but it is certain that these military Stores are actually transported to Breda.
